Friends:

As you know, voters in Los Angeles overwhelmingly approved Measure HHH which authorizes $1.2 billion in bonds to build 10,000 units of housing for the homeless. Many people have asked about the funding process, so I wanted to provide the following update and share the next steps.

The Citizens Oversight Committee (a seven member citizen panel) and the Administrative Oversight Committee (made up of the Mayor, Chief Legislative Analyst, and the City Administrative Officer) have met several times to review recommendations for a Project Expenditure Plan (PEP). This plan was drafted by the Housing and Community Investment Department (HCID) staff, and provides a guide for all housing projects eligible for the bond funds.

The Administrative Oversight Committee will soon convene to review and approve recommendations from the Citizens Oversight Committee. The Administrative Oversight Committee will then forward recommendations to the Mayor and the City Council. Per the language in HHH, the City Council must approve PEP by June 30th for the following fiscal year.

In July, the City will advertise the bond sale and subsequently receive the bond proceeds. PATH Metro Villas II in Rampart Village (located in the 13th District) is one of the projects recommended for funding.

I will be sure to provide further updates as we move through the public process.

Warm regards,

MITCH O'FARRELL
